INSURGENTS AFTER CALIFORNIA

ROOSEVELT TURNED DOWN IN NEW YORK

SPRINGS PLAN FOR BUSINESS MEN

PRESIDENT MORGAN, OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, WOULD COMBINE THE CHAMBER, THE MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION AND THE PROMOTION COMMITTEE IN ONE LARGE ORGANIZATION.

In his annual report to the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon President James F. Morgan springs a proposition of combining the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' Association and Promotion Committee in one body. The Commercial Club is also included in discussions of this plan, which have been current for some time among business men. Morgan's suggestion is the first formal move to bring the matter to a head, and it will cause a lot of discussion. Other matters are treated at length in the report, including a strong recommendation that Honolulu support San Francisco as the place for holding the 1915 Panama exposition; a discussion of local politics with a plea that business men do their part, and a general review of a very active year in the history of the Chamber. The report follows:

To the Members of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce.

Gentlemen:—It is pleasing indeed to be able to record another year of great prosperity for our Territory. It seems almost a startling statement to make, yet I do not recall but one business failure throughout the Territory during the past twelve months. Business in all lines of trade has been good and prices for our products have been remunerative.

Our exports for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1910, amounted to $46,486,412.00, an increase of 15 per cent over the year preceding, being almost double the year's imports, which amounted to $25,138,247.00.

Agricultural conditions throughout the Territory are in a most satisfactory condition.

The manufacture of sugar, which has brought such great prosperity to our Territory, still continues to be the dominant product and will undoubtedly remain so, at least for many years to come, though it is questionable if the output will ever largely exceed the last crop either in quantity or value. Hawaii owes much to the men who have made the sugar industry what it is, for as a direct result of their work, there has been a continued accumulation of capital until today Hawaii is in a position to finance any and all home propositions of merit and thus bring to the front other possible industries.

Rice, which has been the second of our industries with an annual product valued at $2,500,000 is giving place to pineapples.

The development of the pineapple industry in Hawaii has been a remarkable one. In 1900, the entire output amounted to only about 1,000 cases, each containing two dozen cans. For the season just passed, the output amounted to 510,000 cases. A vigorous and well conducted campaign of advertising has established the fact that Hawaiian pineapple is the very best obtainable with the result that the demand for this delicious fruit is keeping pace with the increased output. The continued success of this industry has been assured through the efforts of Mr. James D. Dole, who, after some three years of experimenting, is now able to successfully bottle the pure juice of the ripe pineapple. Last year's output, which was simply experimental, amounted to 2,000 bottles. This season the Hawaiian Pineapple Product Company will have 2,000,000 bottles, and from the present outlook, it would seem to be very doubtful if the pineapple fields of Hawaii, extensive as they are, will be able to supply the great demand for this nature's most delicious and healthful beverage.

Large packers from the mainland have had their attention attracted to this industry. Some have already arranged to do business here and others are planning to do so.

The demand for Hawaiian coffee is greater than the supply. Plantations suitably situated and carefully managed pay satisfactory dividends. The output, while stationary for several years past, is again increasing.

Tobacco growing can at last be classed as one of Hawaii's industries, expert treatment in the curing and manufacturing of the leaf being now arranged for. The experimental stage is past and those who have given careful attention to the matter express the opinion that the growing of tobacco in Hawaii will become a great industry.

Elisal continues to do well and the output shows a satisfactory increase.

Cotton is again being taken up. The quality grown is such as to warrant the belief that several thousand acres will be planted to this crop within the next few years, quite a large area be-

SAY WOULD BE SWALLOWED UP

There will opposition from the Merchant's Association to the idea of combining the Chamber of Commerce, Committee and Commercial Club in one body, as advocated by President Morgan of the Chamber of Commerce in his annual report to the Chamber this afternoon. A counter proposition was made today by a prominent member of the Merchant's Association.

"A combination of the Merchant's Association, the Promotion Committee and the Commercial Club would be a fine idea," said the business man in question, "but it would not be good for these organizations to allow themselves to be swallowed up by the Chamber of Commerce. Amalgamation would really mean only being swallowed up, for the leading spirits of the Chamber of Commerce are those of the sugar interests. They are so overwhelmingly larger than other interests that they will dominate any organization they are in.

"To a certain extent these larger interests are not in harmony with the aims and objects of the Merchants' Association and Promotion committee. The merchants depend for prosperity upon the creation of a larger mercantile community of Honolulu. This is something very different from the natural dominating wishes and policies of the larger sugar men. For these reasons it is better for the Honolulu men who are dependent upon mercantile rather than agricultural interests, to have a separate organization."

ANDREWS VERY SOON RETIRES ANYHOW

HIS TERM AS PARTY MANAGER ABOUT OVER, SAYS THE ORGANIZER WHOSE OPPONENTS SEEK TO OUST HIM—THE CHARGES MADE AND ANDREWS' REPLY TO THEM—OPPOSED CATHCART.

The charges made against Lorrin Andrews, as organizer, or assistant secretary of the Republican party, are principally that he has openly favored the candidacy of Hustace for mayor, and Cohen for senator, whereas, being paid by the whole party to harmonize and organize, he should have taken no sides among Republican rival candidates.

Andrews this morning made light of the charges. "I made inquiry as to what 'charges' there were," he said, "and was told that I had made an open announcement at one meeting that I was for Hustace for mayor. It is not true, but I felt like asking 'What of it?' The other charge was that I had made a similar statement regarding Cohen's candidacy for the senate."

"The fact is that as party organizer I have carefully kept out of fights between rival aspirants for nominations, except as to the county attorneyship. With regard to that office I did make an effort to secure the withdrawal of J. W. Cathcart as a candidate, feeling that it would harmonize and therefore strengthen the party if he would do so. That project, however, has fallen through now, I understand."

"I have the same right to my choice among candidates that any other citizen has, but I have not as assistant secretary of the party taken part in any of the contests. What the committee proposes to do on Friday, I do not know. My work is about over anyhow. The salary paid for the organization work lapses on the twentieth of the present month and my position as secretary is about to expire. After the end of the month I shall no longer be secretary, for there will be a new committee which will select its own secretaries and organizers. Then I shall be at liberty, like any other Republican, to work for any candidate I prefer, and shall do so."

Andrews appeared to regard the charges and investigations as somewhat puerile, but said he would cheerfully go to the Friday meeting and listen to them and answer. It is probable that if the committee comes to a decision that Andrews has favored Cohen or Hustace, he will simply ask them what they are going to do about it.

Some others in the party councils, however, regard the charges not so lightly. "Mr. Andrews, as organizer of the party, received a salary from all factions," said John Lane, who as a candidate for mayor is one of those protesting against alleged support of Hustace by Andrews. "It is not right for him to use the position given him by all the party, to aid any one faction or candidate. There were many complaints, by leading Republicans of the highest standing. The committee finally decided to give the matter a hearing, so that all who have complaints to make may be heard."

GOOD SHOWING IN FREAR'S REPORT

Governor Frear is working on his annual report to Washington and expects to send it forward about the end of this month.

The governor said this morning that the work he had done on it so far showed that it would describe a year of unusual progress and prosperity in Hawaii.

"Figures point to a year of remarkable prosperity," said the governor. "The figures as to exports, figures of bank deposits, products of different kinds all along the line, show great prosperity."

"I think that when the census returns are received, it will be shown that there has been a good increase in population, in desirable directions. I think we shall find from the returns that the number of land holders has greatly increased, partly as a result

INSURGENTS TRYING TO GET GOLDEN STATE

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)

SAN FRANCISCO, August 16.—The voting today in the Republican primaries is very heavy in the city, but light in the interior. No disturbances have occurred, though the contest between the regular and insurgent Republican forces is a bitter one for the gubernatorial nomination.

The main contest is between Hiram Johnson, formerly associated with Francis Heney in the graft prosecution, now leader of the Republican insurgents, and Charles F. Curry, upon whom the regulars are concentrating strength. Johnson has had the assistance of Gifford Pinchot in his canvass to place California in the ranks of the insurgent states, Pinchot having come west on purpose to speak for him. A victory for the Johnson forces will put California in the insurgent ranks, and place her Republican nominees for Congress with the opponents of Ballinger and Cannon and Aldrich. The contest is therefore being watched with national interest.

COL. ROOSEVELT IS DEFEATED

NEW YORK, August 16.—The Republican state central committee today defeated Theodore Roosevelt for the office of temporary chairman of the Republican state convention. The vote was twenty against Roosevelt and thirteen in his favor. Following this vote, the committee unanimously selected Vice-President Sherman for temporary chairman. Roosevelt's recent vigorous entry into New York politics as a champion of the Hughes primary bill, which was defeated, is said to have contributed to the decisive vote against him today.
